

SEPARATION CHALLENGE ACCEPTED

Quasar™ Liquid Chromatography Columns

QUASAR™ LIQUID CHROMATOGRAPHY COLUMNS

Whatever your separation challenge, your choice of liquid chromatography (LC) column can make all the difference. Our Quasar portfolio of LC columns allows you to achieve rugged and reproducible results – batch to batch and column to column – with an all-encompassing, flexible solution that meets the diverse, changing needs of analysis.

Ultrapure silica-based Quasar columns deliver a comprehensive range of chemistries, together with state-of-the-art, optimized bonding technology to give you a versatile, high-performing analytical solution for your increasingly complex samples.

Quasar HPLC and UHPLC columns

- High sensitivity for mass spectrometry (MS) applications
- High efficiency for complex separations
- Excellent pH stability across commonly used mobile phase buffers

Quasar SPP Columns

- Next-generation superficially porous particle (SPP) phases that promise productivity
- Faster run times and method development
- Lower back pressures compared to sub 2µm columns with robust operation

Our Quasar columns promise benefits such as:

- Longevity to withstand high-throughput environments
- High-efficiency separations to facilitate trace-level analysis
- Good resolution and peak shapes for more effective compound separation
- Analysis of increasing polar and complex analytes
